Report on the topic "Legal Methods"

Dr. Gubbi Subba Rao delivered guest lecture on the topic "Legal Methods." Legal methods are the beginning of transformation of law student into lawyer. It teaches the students to engage with legal texts, to think critically about the law, and most importantly, to think, analyse and reason like a lawyer. According to him, it will help the students to familiarize with the skills of theoretical debates on nature of law and its consequences in the real world. The students will be equipped with the basic understanding of legal system, the institutions, nature of legal rules and techniques of legal and logical reasoning. He explained the meaning of precedent, ratio decidendi and obiter dicta. The students were introduced as to how to read a case law and analyze the facts as well a legal provisions. The hierarchical structure of courts would help the students in understanding the structure, functions and precedential value of decisions. The importance of legal research to law students, mode of carrying out research, use of internet in research, techniques and ideas were briefly discussed.

Report on "Goods and Services Tax"

A Guest Lecture was delivered by Sri. Anoop Prasad K S, Chartered Accountant on 02/11/2018 on the topic "Goods and Services Tax." Goods and Services Tax is an indirect tax in India on the supply of goods and services. It is a comprehensive, multi-stage destination-based tax. It is comprehensive because it has subsumed almost all the indirect taxes except a few taxes. It has replaced most the taxes in India such as excise duty, VAT, services tax etc. The journey of GST in India which began in the year 2000 was explained. The components of GST are CGST, SGST and IGST. The advantages of GST are removing the cascading effect of tax, higher threshold for GST registration, composition scheme for small businesses, simpler online facilities for GST compliance, defined treatment for e-commerce activities and regulation of unauthorized sectors. Apart from online filing of GST returns, GST regime has introduced several new systems such as E-way bills and E-invoicing. It was a brain-storming session with technicalities involved. It was well attended by staff and students.

Report on "Introduction to Drafting, Pleading & Conveyance"

Sri. N. Harish, Advocate, Bengaluru delivered Guest Lecture on "Introduction to Drafting, Pleading & Conveyance" on 31st August, 2018. He explained the meaning of drafting, pleading and conveyancing and also the overview of the course. It is an important practical subject in the law course. It envisages inter alia drafting of civil pleadings, criminal complaints and other proceeding, writ petition, revisions, reviews, special leave petition, contempt petition, interlocutory applications etc. He opined that a student who acquires the requisite knowledge, perfection and proficiency in drafting of these matters, shall undoubtedly become a perfect legal professional and shall prove to be an asset to the legal world. Pleadings are the statement of facts in writing drawn up and filed in a court by each party. It covers plaint as well as written statement. Other pleadings that may be filed are subsequent and additional pleadings. The object of pleadings is to assist the court and parties to the dispute in its adjudication. The fundamental rules of pleadings are that it must state facts and not law and must state all material facts precisely. He also discussed the meaning of conveyancing by giving the essentials and contents of sale deed, gift deed and mortgage deed. It was well attended by staff and students.

Report on "Issues and Challenges in Drafting of Pleading"

Sri. Rakshith, Advocate, High Court of Karnataka, Bengaluru delivered Guest Lecture on the topic "Issues and Challenges in Drafting of Pleading" on 7th September, 2018. He gave an overview of the meaning of drafting, pleading and conveyancing. He highlighted the rules and objectives of pleadings. Framing of issues is probably the most important part of trial. He referred to Siddhi Chunnilal v. Suresh Gopikishan wherein it was observed that if correct and accurate issues were not framed, it leads to gross injustice, delay and waste of the court's time in deciding the matter. Forming of a distinct issue is difficult task which the court should do. It is a material proposition which should be affirmed by one party and denied by another. Unless each material proposition is affirmed and denied by another, distinct issue cannot be formed. If proper issues are not framed, it creates a dangerous situation. He also made certain general suggestions in framing issues. The issues should not be unnecessarily wide, detect the broader area of case, issues should be specific, frame issues on factual and legal questions and such other matters. It was a very interactive session and well attended by staff and students.

Intellectual property rights are the rights given to persons over the creations of their minds. He said they are ideas, inventions and creative expressions based on which there is public willingness to bestow the status of property. It refers to creations such as literary works, artistic works, inventions, designs, symbols, commercial names and images. It covers copyrights, patents, trademarks, trade secrets, geographical indications and industrial designs. He explained the meaning of the above through the legislative provisions. The procedure for filing, what is registrable, what is not registrable, scope, duration and the rights available was exhaustively discussed. He also highlighted the judicial response in India on IPR. He also briefly discussed the international treaties relating to Intellectual Property Rights. It was well attended by staff and students.

Report on "Law of Taxation"

Sri Sagar Nagaraj, Advocate & Tax Consultant, Bengaluru and Alumnus of BMS College of Law delivered Guest Lecture on "Law of Taxation" from 3rd to 7th September, 2018. He explained the provisions of taxation laws briefly. The Income tax Act, 1961 provides a mechanism for computing the tax relating to the income of an assessee pertaining to an assessment year. Such computation is made after allowing various deductions, exemptions and rebates to the assesse and is called assessment. He explained the meaning of assesse, assessment year and the residential status of an assessee. He also gave a brief overview of the Wealth Tax Act. On whom the wealth tax can be levied was also highlighted. There are two kinds of tax- direct and indirect. Indian taxation system has undergone tremendous reforms during the last decade. The direct taxes are income tax, wealth tax and corporate tax. The indirect taxes are sales tax, central sales tax, excise duty, customs duty and service tax. It was a very interesting and brainstorming session. It was well attended by staff and students.

Report on "Competition Law and Jio Case"

A guest lecture was delivered by Ms. Kavitha Jithani, Advocate, Samvad Partners and Alumnus of BMS College of law on 19/08/2017 on the topic "Competition Law and Jio Case." She explained the facts of the case, legal issues involved and the consequences of the judgment. The telecom sector in India has witnessed intense competition over the past decade. The arrival of Reliance Jio and the Vodafone- Idea merger re-inforce the steep competition that exists in this sector - which forces the market players to continuously enhance their performance and gain an edge over their competitors. In Bharti Airtel v. Reliance Jio, where the CCI held that Reliance Jio was not in a dominant position in the market and was not indulging in predatory pricing. Bharti Airtel contended that Reliance Jio was engaging in predatory pricing through various offers. The CCI went on to note that according to market data, Reliance Jio does not have a market share of more than 7% and that there exists sufficient choice to customers. The other legal issue was whether Jio is considered to be in a dominant position in the telecom market as of today. But the CCI held that mere market share does not determine the dominant position. Hence according to her this is one of the landmark judgments that students of competition law should thoroughly understand. It was a very interesting session with student interaction. It was well attended by staff and students.

Report on "Taking up Legal Education"

Prof. Dr. C S Patil, Vice-Chancellor, Karnataka State Law University, Hubballi delivered a Guest Lecture on 29/08/2017 on the topic "Taking up Legal Education". Legal education is essentially a multi-disciplined, multi-purpose education which can develop the human resources and idealism needed to strengthen the legal system. He quoted S P Sathe, "A lawyer, a product of such education would be able to contribute to national development and social change in a much more constructive manner." According to him, legal education is the education of individuals who intend to become legal professionals or those who simply intend to use their law degree to some end, either related to law or business. He gave an overview of the under graduate and post graduate law course. There are vocational courses which prospective lawyers are required to pass in some countries before they may enter practice and higher academic degrees. Historically, legal education did not receive any priority or attention in India. With the establishment of National Law Schools, this mediocrity was challenged and it was successful in attracting students to study the law. Legal education is not a narrow concept. It not only includes the profession which is practiced in courts but also comprises of research in field of law, law teaching, administration, commercial and industrial employments and all other activities which postulate and require the use of legal knowledge and skill. Legal education should develop two skills in students. Effective learning is a step involved in competently completing a number of tasks such as interviewing a client or preparing to cross-examine a witness. The second one is ability to remember facts which clients communicate. The challenges faced by legal education are physical infrastructure, financial resources, lack of philanthropic initiatives, hiring good teachers and researchers. It was well attended by staff and students.

REPORT ON SOCIAL STIGMA, GENDER IDENTITY, SEXUALITY AND LAW

Since ancient times we are observing two gender identities, that is, male and female. But apart from these two class of gender we are also observing a new group of people known as LGBT. In the year of 2014 supreme court gave a landmark judgement in national legal services authority v. union of India, The hon'ble supreme court declaredtransgender people the "third gender" and affirmed all fundamental rights guaranteed under Indian constitution. But is this direction being followed?

To know about the situations and stigmas faced by these transgenders the BMS College of law on 3rd February organised a seminar on social stigma, gender Identity, Sexuality and Law and chief guest for this seminar was Akkaipadmashali AkkaiPadmashai is the founder member of Ondede, an organisation which aims to create awareness about sexuality, sexual diversity and right to choose one's sexual orientation. She is a sexual minority activist and is the first transgender who was awarded honorary doctorate. She addressed the gathering very warmly. She was accompanied by two of her colleagues and even they shared their life experiences with us.

They shared their grievances and grief. They even enlightened us about what kind of atrocities and injustice they have to face in the society. Most of the transgender in this country are forced to become sex worker as we common people do not consider them as human beings. We as being the civilised society never considered the LGBT community as part of society. We have always ousted them. We have always ignored their capabilities and intellectual abilities and judged them on the basis of sexuality and not considered them as human beings. In spite of facing all the unjust act done against they are fighting for their rights.

Though the supreme court has given them a status and directions in favour of transgenders but still we are not able to put it in practical existence. But still AkkaiPadmashali and many other transgenders are fighting for their rights all over the country. The main object of the seminar was to just bring to knowledge of people what kind of injustices they are facing in the society. In the entire session, the guest never asked for any special status to be given to them or any kind of reservation. They only want our support and participation in their fight for acceptance. They even urged us to considered them only as human beings.

Report on "The Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996"

On 04/03/2017, a Special Lecture was delivered by Sri. H S Dwarkanath, Senior Advocate, High Court of Karnataka on the topic, "The Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996". He gave an overview of the provisions of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996." Arbitration and conciliation are alternative methods of dispute resolution. It creates a win-win situation wherein parties settle the disputes peacefully and amicably. The procedure to be followed in arbitration and conciliation was elaborately explained. There are two kinds of arbitration namely domestic and international arbitration. The drafting of arbitration agreement, who shall be parties and what shall be the contents was elucidated. He enlightened the audience on appointment of arbitrators. The most essential quality of an arbitrator is impartiality. The arbitral award shall be enforced by the civil court and cannot be challenged before court of law. It was well attended by staff and students.

Report on "The Challenges to the Rule of Law in India"

On 11/08/2017, Guest Lecture was delivered by Sri. Harish Narasappa, Co-founder, Daksh and Sampad Partners on the topic, "The Challenges to the Rule of Law in India." He began with the meaning of rule of law as propounded by Dicey which means supremacy of law and excludes wide discretionary powers on the part of government. He traced the history of rule of law wherein Magna Carta, English Bill of Rights have clearly mentioned that the king himself ought to be subject to law because law makes him the king. The rule of law has always been a vital part of Indian Judiciary. It serves as a check for administrative action. The judiciary ensures that organs of government do not over step their jurisdiction. Sir was of the opinion that inspite of all the advantages of the Doctrine, its practical application in India has always been challenged. The insufficiency of proper safeguards and mechanisms to curb corruption pose a serious threat to implementation of the doctrine. He expressed his concern over how the principle is often used in rhetoric and political arguments. Disregard and disrespect has become the norm and rule of law should be revived. It was well attended by staff and students.

Report on "Lapse in Investigation in Criminal Proceedings or Cases"

On 10/02/2017, a Special Lecture was delivered by K Radhakrishna Holla, District and Sessions Judge on the topic, "Lapse in Investigation in Criminal Proceedings or Cases." The need for better administration of criminal justice is felt by humanity since the dawn of civilization and continues to be the goal of human endeavour. According to him, the four components of criminal justice are police, prosecution, courts and prisons. He expressed his concern over lapse in criminal investigation. There are various reasons for the same. The main reasons for lapse in investigation is are faulty investigation, failure of police in collecting the correct evidence, non-co-operation of general public, delay in filing charge-sheet, not properly maintaining case diaries and delay in sending forensic reports. He made certain workable suggestions for the same. Some of them are appointment of a legal officer in police station to help in investigation, verification of the truth of FIR, net-working the police stations with the criminal courts, recording reasons for delay of IO, protection of crime scene, adequate infrastructure and funds to investigating officers to name a few. It was a very interactive session as it was followed by question and answer session. It was well-attended by staff and students.

Report on "Role of Forensic Science in Delivering Justice"

On 17/2/2017, Guest Lecture was delivered by Dr. C V Mohan, Managing Director, Samleen Bio Engineering Pvt. Ltd., on the topic, "Role of Forensic Science in Delivering Justice". He explained the meaning of forensic science and the various concepts involved in it. The main objective of forensic science is to provide direction to those conducting criminal investigation and to provide correct information. He gave an overview of legal provisions supporting forensic analysis of criminal investigation. He also highlighted how there is restricted application of forensic evidence in Indian Judiciary. Many people are misguided about investigation due to the way it is shown in movies and web series. Starting from the commission of crime to conviction, it requires a lot of time. Technology plays a very important role in forensic science. He explained in detail the procedure adopted for collection of evidence. He discussed provisions of Indian Constitution, Indian Evidence Act and CrPC along with important case laws. He also cited reasons such as improper collection, preservation as to why court does not readily accept forensic evidence. It was truly an intriguing session with wonderful participation by students and staff.

Report on "Emerging Domains of Law and New Career Opportunities for Lawyers"

Shri. Shridhar Prabhu delivered a guest lecture on the topic "Emerging Domains of Law and New Career Opportunities for Lawyers" on 08/09/2017. Change is the law of nature, and we all know that those who adapt to the change grow. Taking the legal industry into consideration, the demands and expectations of clients have taken new heights. Law is globally hailed as an exciting and challenging career and it is often very gratifying to know to help innocents from a life of ignominy in jail or for execution. With the boom in law firms, enrolment of law graduates has seen a new high. Other than litigation law firms also assist their clientele with mergers, acquisitions, due diligence audits and with other similar requirements. Banks and PSU's also look for erudite and brilliant law recruits to equip their legal departments and take care of drafting, negotiating and vetting contracts. Stable job, set hours, guaranteed hike and promotions are the major pull of this opportunity. The E-discoveries, social media, virtual law firms and outsourcing, cyber security are the upcoming trends in the legal profession. The legal profession also has its own challenges as the young lawyers should begin their career with a modest wage and have to struggle for first few years. He also advised the students that they should have patience in the initial days of practice to get established and flourish in practice. It was well attended by staff and students.

A Special Lecture on 'Demonetization & Governance' was held by B.M.S.College of Law on 03 March 2017 in the Seminar Hall. Prof. B.K. Chandrasekhar, Former Minister for Primary & Secondary Education, Government of Karnataka; was invited as a resource person to address the faculty members and students.

The speaker who is also an economist, highlighted the plight of crores of people had become jobless, poor and middle class people had to bear the brunt and lakhs of small scale industries were destroyed by the sudden announcement of demonetisation.

Demonetisation is the act of stripping a currency unit of its status as legal tender. In simple terms, the Apex Bank of India i.e. Reserve Bank of India; pull out the old currency from the circulation and introduces new notes to replace old ones.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi had banned old notes of 500 and 1000 rupees all over the country on November 8, 2016. This step is known as demonetisation.

The Main motive for introducing demonitization was :

1) To remove the circulation of counterfeit currency from the country

2) To eradicate black money from the economy

3) To create fear among tax evaders and corrupt officials

Although the move for demonetization did not make any impact upon rich and influential persons in the society. Speaking of the first world experience with public finance, he mentioned that countries like USA & Britain; which comprises of developed countries of the world had not taken such hasty decision of demonetisation of higher currency notes, but India's decision to demonetize 500 and 1000 denomination to curb corruption; although noble in its intention; has brought in host of problems and had resulted in rampant unemployment and has affected lot of sectors such as real estate, banking and manufacturing.

"Is Legal Verdict a Divine Verdict?"

Speaker: Dr. Geetha Ramanujam
Date: 17.03.2017
Time: 11.45 AM
Venue: Seminar Hall, B.M.S. College of Law

The Speaker initiated her topic by stating that the profession of the Teacher, Doctor and Lawyers is of utmost importance and pious in the Society. The Society is healthy and wealthy when these professionals do not take any undue advantage of their profession. A huge amount of responsibility is vested on these professionals to discharge their duties with due care and caution.

Law is a very wide term. It doesn't just include the offenses relating to rape, murder etc. Law doesn't just regulate the lawyers; it is for the protection of the society as a whole.

She highlighted a 1986 case wherein a husband murdered his own wife to get married to his own sister in law with the consent of the girl's parents. Kunti's Life story was illustrated where she was in love with one and had to marry other four men. Does divinity exist in the above cases was questioned.

The statue of the woman of justice found in courthouses is a representation of the goddess of divine justice. She is blindfolded with a black ribbon. This blindfold doesn't imply that she is blind. It simply means that she doesn't want to see and what has to be seen is understood by the case proceedings.

PRINCIPAL

Earlier people criticised one another in front of each other. They did not inculcate and practice the habit of back biting. Dasa criticising King Krishnadevaraya in the open court hall about the collection of Kappa from Dasi's is an example of the above. This constructive criticism led to the abolition of the unreasonable taxes by the King.

The story of King Ellalan of Chola Dynasty who was titled as Manu Needhi Cholan (the Chola who followed Manu law) for executing his own son to provide justice to a Cow was illustrated as an example for verdict being divine. His statue is placed outside the High court in Chennai. This was set as an example for divine justice.

There is no divinity in the justice delivered in today's justice system. The cultural contribution to the society can be traced back to people who lived in that era. There was no written law in the olden days. They practised justice system without it being written.

Divinity doesn't mean god or supreme force delivering justice. "Satyam Shivam Sundaram"- Be truthful to your judgement. Standing for neutrality is divinity in delivering justice is what they practised and the same has to be implemented in today's justice system.

Bhakta Prahalada's son -Virochana's Story was illustrated to explain the concept of divine justice in the judgement.

Verification is not proof. You are to prove a theory by disproving the other theory. Copernicus proving the heliocentric theory of the universe by disproving the geo centric theory was set as an example to illustrate the above point. If this system is followed there can divinity in the justice system.

Unfortunately our justice system is influenced by the external factors which hamper the delivery of unbiased judgement. Every last person in the planet should be provided with all the facilities and should experience the divinity of the justice system to have a better society.

Report on "Regulatory Framework and Development in Aviation- Indian Scenario"

On 20/2/17 Guest Lecture was delivered by Mr. Moses George, General Manager (Tech) Airports Authority of India, Bangalore on the topic "Regulatory Framework and Development in Aviation- Indian Scenario". The Indian civil aviation industry is a promising sector and is the seventh largest aviation market in the world and third largest in terms of domestic passenger traffic. He told that the Ministry of Civil Aviation is responsible for the administration of aviation industry in India. It plays a significant role in the formulation of national policies and programmes for the development and regulation of civil aviation and implementing the schemes. He gave an overview of legal provisions of Carriage by Air Act, 1972. He also explained the provisions relating to registration of aircraft, de-registration and ownership requirements. He delved into the rights of passengers, treatment of unruly passengers under the Regulations. He enlightened the audience as to how the Competition Commission of India acts as a watchdog of aviation sector in India. The new Anti-hijacking Act of 2016 was critically analysed due to the loopholes in ensuring safety of passengers and crew members. It was truly enlightening as the students had an opportunity to know about the topic which is not actually covered under the syllabus.

REPORT ON THE GUEST LECTURE BY CV SUDHINDRA ON THE TOPIC

PROSECUTION AND SANCTION TO PROSECUTE

.In India, Crimes have diversified since the development of society to eliminate these crimes

The parliament has enacted many laws .but due to various problems in the society the laws are enabling to bring satisfactory results. With the view to enlighten lawyers about the general principles of criminal law C.V SUDHINDRA, practising senior advocate Hon'ble high court of Karnataka. Presented a lecture on "PROSECUTION AND SANCTION TO PROSECUTE". On 22nd September 2016 in the BMS college of law. The aim of this lecture was to educate the students of law ON THE PROCEDURAL ASPECT OF CRIME.

He started his lecture by quoting the words of Albert Einstein"The world as we have created it is a process of our thinking. It cannot be changed without changing our thinking."He further enlightened about general principle of criminal law with the help of present cases, He even touched upon THE POCSO ACT which was enacted with a viewto curb mischief committed by the intruder against the children.

He further stated the technical aspects of criminal procedure practised before the courts, he even cited Guddikattinarasimharaowhere Hon'bleSupreme Court held that accused is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty. He even highlighted Gurubakshsinghsibia case in which justice Krishna iyaerexplained the importance of anticipatory bail and considering right to bail of the accused as part of article 21 of Indian constitution.

He explained the certain provision of CrPC, majorly concentrated on Sec.161 and 162 of CrPC which is read with 145 of evidence act.

To conclude the lecture it is fair to say the human greed and his malafide intentions have led us to a society which is based on materialist benefits than of human values which is why laws are increasing day by day to adapt with these wrongs committed hence the criminal law plays a vital role in achieving this objective and making our society a better place to live in.

Report on "Right to Privacy as a Fundamental Right"

A Guest Lecture was delivered by Prof. Ravivarma Kumar, Senior Advocate and Alumnus of BMS College of Law on 13/02/2016 on the topic, "Right to Privacy as a Fundamental Right." The Indian Constitution confers on every individual right to life under Article 21 which includes right to privacy as well. He explained the same with the help of decided case laws. In Kharak Singh's case, the court has correctly held that the expression 'life' under Article 21 does not mean mere animal existence. Life and personal liberty are inalienable rights. According to him these are not created by constitution but are inherent rights of every human being. He said the term 'privacy' encompasses within itself preservation of personal intimacies, sanctity of family life, marriage, procreation, home and sexual orientation. The aim of right to privacy is to protect heterogeneity and recognizes plurality and diversity of our culture. He also explained the reasonable restrictions on right to privacy. Informational privacy is the new facet of right to privacy. He explained the positive as well as negative content of right to privacy. It was highly informative and was well attended by staff and students.

Report on "Surrogacy-Socio-legal Concerns in India"

On 12/02/2016 a Special Lecture was delivered by Ms. Sonali Kusum, Ph.D Research Scholar, NLSIU, Bangalore, Ex-Assistant Professor, School of Law, Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai on the topic, "Surrogacy- Socio-legal Concerns in India." The increasing cases of infertility and the inherent human desire to procreate have led to unprecedented growth in the usage of assisted reproductive technologies around the globe. With the advent of assisted reproductive technologies surrogate parenting has risen sharply in recent years. She explained the meaning of surrogacy, the legal provisions, issues and challenges confronting surrogacy. She expressed her concern over cross-border commercial surrogacy arrangements and the socio-ethical factors involved in the same. Surrogacy has its own share of advantages and disadvantages. She elaborately discussed the ongoing debate as to whether surrogacy enables exercise of procreative rights or undermines reproductive justice. The rights of children born out of surrogacy, the identity crisis faced by them and the parentage are certain challenges. The surrogate mothers are exposed to potential health risk. The controversial provisions under Surrogacy Bill were also discussed. Overall it was a very interesting session and was well received by staff and students.

Report on "Urban Administration and its Facets"

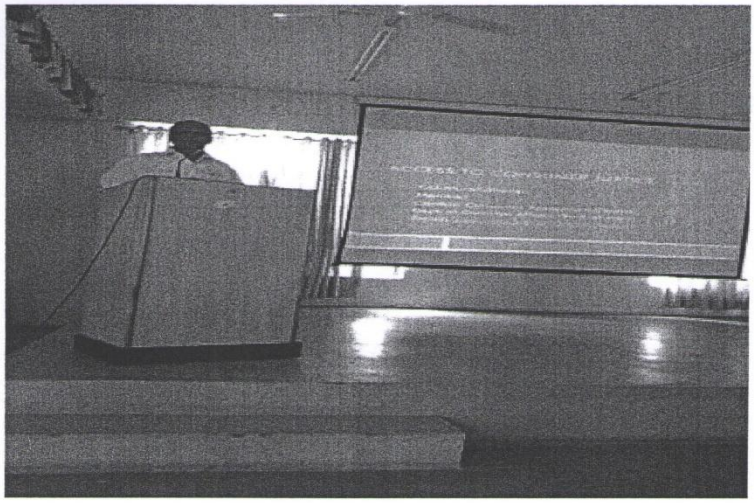

On 06/10/2017 Guest Lecture was delivered by Dr, Vishal R, IAS, Director, Directorate of Municipal Administration, Urban Development Department, Government of Karnataka on the topic, "Urban Administration and its Facets". In the past, urbanization and its concomitant challenges commanded low priority in national political discourse. But recently due to rise in cities, there is significant stress on urban planning and governance. According to him, City's strategic development plan is one which sets out spatial framework of the city for the delivery of sustainable development and enhanced quality of life for its citizens. He discussed the problems encountering in urban governance and planning. States should allow city plans to be crafted by urban local bodies and long process is prescribed for the same. The issue of equity is largely ignored. He expressed his concern over the apathy towards solid waste management, public transportation system and marginalized social and economic groups. The ill-effects of poor planning on climate change, social and economic conditions were also highlighted. He suggested that it is high time that the country should engage in a serious debate on the size of cities and their impact on overall liveability. It was well attended by staff and students.
