Report on 7 Days FDP Program

7 Days FDP Program on First Hand Experience on SPSS- Introductory Module organised by Research Foundation of India in association with Parul University, Bhagwan Parashuram Institute of Technology, New Delhi from 1 to 7 July, 2023.

Introduction

This FDP program is organized to help you familiarize yourself with the software package SPSS and learn about basic statistics.

Here is a summary of the activities of FDP Program:

Activity 1: How to start SPSS

This is recommended if you have not had any experience with SPSS and are fairly new to computers.

Activity 2: Using the Menu

This is recommended to enable you to get an interactive overview of the different menu options. This should help to put your mind at ease about learning SPSS.

Activity 3: Adding variables

If you are doing any work with SPSS, the chances are that you will be required add variables to SPSS as this constitutes the way raw data is entered into SPSS.

Activity 4: Obtaining descriptive statistics

At the most basic level of statistics we want to know what our data looks like and be able to describe it. This course will show you how to get basic descriptive statistics from your data in SPSS.

Activity 5: Correlation

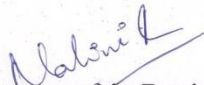

This is one of the simpler statistical tests you will use. This activity shows you how to carry out a correlation.

Activity 6: Independent T-Tests

This is one of two t-test types. It is used when you have two groups of individuals and you are making a comparison between the two groups, for example through an experiment.

Activity 7: Paired Samples T-Tests

This is one of two t-test types. It is used when your design is a 'within participants' design. In 'within participants' designs, participants contribute data for the dependent variable in all conditions. You would also use a paired samples test if you adopted a matched samples design (for example when comparing twins).
